Don't forget to register, so that you may vote on the 30th.

A good corner card, and a truthful one, would read: "Help us, cash, or we sink."

The prediction is made that by 1895 the Nicaragua Canal will be open for business.

Be not mistaken! A vote for the sewer bonds is a vote to delay work on the sewers for a couple of years.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY is not a candidate for Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army. He thinks Gen. Alger will be chosen.

SUICIDE among German officers increases shockingly. During May 25 shot themselves, and the number for June was larger still.

The citizens of Santa Monica are coming up en masse to attend the anti-Ballona meeting on Saturday, and will bring a brass band along.

It is rumored that the Queen of England has at last yielded to her physicians and will take a long sea trip, perhaps to India, or possibly to Canada and the United States.

The summer is well advanced, and yet that desolating southern scourge, the yellow fever, has not made its annual visitation to the South. It is to be hoped that that section will wholly escape such dire visitation this year.

SENATOR JONES says that, if the sewer bonds are voted, he will at once commence an injunction suit in a United States Court, he being a citizen of Nevada. This will be only one of several such suits, and the consequence, as THE TIMES has frequently stated, will be tedious delays in work on the sewers, and very likely the forced adoption of some other plan, after all.

The Herald came out yesterday as an apologist for Judge Terry, and in strong condemnation of Officer Nagle. The Express appears inclined to adopt the same tone. One of the points made by the Herald is the following very Heraldic, but otherwise somewhat remarkable one:

"The sight of Field, however, sitting at the table, raised his eye, and he determined at once to go through him, and he would be compelled as a man of honor and one who had recognized the code to seek some means of satisfaction. This is the theory which men who knew Terry well believe is the correct one. If Terry had intended to have a mortal fracas with the Justice, he would have been armed."

Such reference to the "code," as it were, is a custom of today, in connection with an uncalled for insult offered to a Judge of the United States Supreme Court, attests the fact that the hoary ideas of ante-bellum days still linger around the Herald office.

C. D. AMBROSE of Pomona has had W. F. Wheeler of Lodi arrested, charged, as stated, being the sending of a threatening letter with intent to extort money. The arrest is undoubtedly the outcome of a circular issued by Mr. Wheeler in February last, and which was published in THE TIMES on the 14th inst. This move is probably an attempt on the part of Ambrose to cast indignity upon a worthy citizen, who is widely and honorably known. Had Mr. Ambrose really desired to resent the circular issued by Mr. Wheeler, he would certainly not have waited six months to demand satisfaction for his wounded honor, especially as the said circular contained such variegated epithets as "hypocrite, liar, swindler, gambler, forger and perjurer." Mr. Wheeler evidently considers that Ambrose is a person of note, in this line, but it is a decidedly odd case.

A FEW FACTS.

Here are a few facts about the sewer question which it would be well to remember:

"The people as a rule are now against an outfall sewer to the ocean. They are especially dissatisfied with the Ballona route."

They want a permanent and beneficial system.

They know the Los Angeles River route is the shortest, cheapest and best.

They know that the right of way by the Ballona route is by no means satisfactorily settled, and that it is proposed to pay an outrageous price for land for terminal works.

They know that the voting of the bonds for the Ballona route will prevent the city from obtaining a sewerage system for years.

They know that several reasonable, business-like and definite propositions have been presented to the people for the utilization of the sewage on dry lands south of the city.

They know that the Ballona scheme is being forced upon the people by interested parties.

They know that there is plenty of dry, porous soil in that section that will absorb the winter sewage.

They know that the city can make the sewage useful by the Los Angeles River route, whereas it will be mostly wasted by the other route.

They know that the Ballona route is wasteful, impracticable and extravagant.

They know that the proposed outfall would work severe damage to Santa Monica.

They know that idle men will remain idle if the bonds are voted.

They know that there is a general demand for effective sewerage, and that to get it we must vote down the bonds on the 30th, and start work on some practicable scheme.

For this reason, the people, as a rule, are, as we said, against the bonds, which will be defeated by a handsome majority.

THE HIGH SCHOOL SITE.

The suggestion appears to be a good one, that the Board of Education should build an inexpensive high school, on a good site, and afterward convert it into a ward school, rather than build a $50,000 high school on so utterly inappropriate a site as that on Castelar and Sand streets. In connection with this site we note that the Board of Education, in its official apology for its action, makes the point that the Castelar-street site is central, because it is only a quarter of a mile from the Plaza, "the geographical center of the city."

The geographical center has very little to do with this case. As we stated a few days ago, nine-tenths of the improvements made in the city during the past five years have been made in the southern quarter of the official city site. The "geographical center" of the United States, measuring from east to west, is a point in the Pacific Ocean, about 600 miles northwest of San Francisco. Yet that would be too moist as a location for a Federal building. Fifty years ago the center of business was north of the Plaza. Today it is half a mile south. Five years hence it is liable to be a mile southwest. The eighth-street site, although rather far south, is really as central to our population today as the Castelar-street site, and far more convenient of access. In five years it will be much more central than the site now proposed.

The Board of Education should not be permitted to perpetrate yet another public-building job on this unfortunate city, by playing into the hands of a few property-owners, who are desperately trying to accomplish an impossibility, that is, to keep business from drifting away from the Plaza. Should the school bonds be defeated, the members of the Board of Education will alone be to blame.

THE INSANE ASYLUM SITE.

Referring to a recent letter of our San Bernardino correspondent on the subject of the Southern California Insane Asylum site, the Ventura Vidette says:

"We are sure that the commissioners from this county and Santa Barbara are not participants in this nefarious business. They had nothing to do with it, but have done all within their power to get located elsewhere. The writer says that not only one of the San Bernardino commissioners, but also Gov. Watson, will be benefited by its location on the terrible desert north of San Bernardino. Can it be possible that any man with the slightest claim to honor and manliness could sell himself for a few thousand dollars to a scheme that would so endanger the comfort and lives of the unfortunate insane?"

These officials that they locate the asylum in view of comfort to the unfortunate. If the asylum was known to the citizens of Pomona some months ago, Ambrose himself and a number of his friends were aware of its existence, yet made no attempt to secure its suppression. When the circular was made public it naturally created a lively sensation.

The parties are both well-known citizens of that part of the county. Ambrose located in Pomona about four years ago, and engaged a mercantile business as a business manager for or partner with the firm of R. H. Morgan & Co. After doing business less than a year the firm failed, and Ambrose embarked in the real-estate business at the beginning of the boom. He met with considerable success as agent and auctioneer, made money, but, like many others, invested quite heavily in real estate, and lost it all. The loss was a severe one, and he was forced to sell his property at a sacrifice.

Prof. Wheeler was associated with Ambrose in business, during the continuance of which the acts complained of by Wheeler took place.

Prof. Wheeler came from the East some years ago, and on the opening of the Chaffee College of Agriculture at Ontario, San Bernardino county, was its first principal, a position which he held for a year or more. Retiring from that position, he located on an elevated mesa in the foothills above Pomona, and there established the Alpine Sanitarium, dividing his time between the improvement of the place and the operation of the same. He is recognized by all who know him in that section as a fine scholar, a polished gentleman and in every way honorable. His well-known reputation there accounts in a great measure for the sensation caused by the publication of his circular. Ambrose's friends, of course, will use every effort to avert the bad effects of the charges made by Prof. Wheeler, and the people of Pomona expect some lively developments on the trial which is to follow.

A THEATRICAL VIEW.

Will J. Davis of the Haymarket on California.

The citizens of Los Angeles have not yet forgotten the Bostonians' Opera Company who were here a few months since. They were brought to the coast by Will J. Davis, manager of the Chicago Haymarket Theater. That he was favorably impressed with this section of country the following extracts from an interview with Mr. Davis, published in the Chicago Evening Journal, will prove.

"The Bostonians played engagements in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Oakland, San Jose, Stockton, Sacramento, Salt Lake City, Denver, Colorado Springs, Leadville, Pueblo, Lincoln, Omaha and Sioux City. Of all these only Pueblo, where the thermometer was 110 in the shade, and Lincoln, where the people had not recovered from the Fourth of July celebration (that's what they said), were unsatisfactory. Los Angeles was with us from the start, and we played a big week there."

"Los Angeles is cosmopolitan, and the people are friendly, and they measure artists by a standard of their own."

"But enough of opera; let me tell you something of the Great West. I had been here for nearly ten years. In places I found such changes that I did not recognize a familiar object, except such old friends as I found. I didn't find any place like Chicago—there is none—but Omaha, Denver and Los Angeles are certainly modeled on the Chicago principle, and they are proud to be considered imitators of the greatest city on earth. The people are full of the nervous energy one knows here, the new things look like old ones. In fact, I think Chicago architects are largely employed in all three cities; the hotels are fashioned, as far as may be, after ours; Chicago railroads stretch out to these cities; the Chicago daily papers are sent to these cities; a capital is controlling their street and cable railways, and many Chicago wholesale houses have branch establishments in these three cities. All three cities have wonderful things. Los Angeles having changed its appearance completely, and in the other two the familiar sights are right at the depot."

"The thorough-going Chicago man could not conceivably find anything else there to which he could yield the palm. California has, however, made wonderful progress—wonderful hardly does it justice. It is absolutely astonishing to come upon Los Angeles. The city is a capital in controlling their street and cable railways, and many Chicago wholesale houses have branch establishments in these three cities. All three cities have wonderful things. Los Angeles having changed its appearance completely, and in the other two the familiar sights are right at the depot."

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 16.—[By the Associated Press.] The south-bound passenger train on the Butler branch of the Western Pennsylvania Railroad which left Butler, Pa., at 2:35 o'clock this afternoon, jumped the track at Carver's station, and the entire train, consisting of two passenger coaches and a combination smoking and baggage car, went over an embankment and was totally wrecked. Three persons were killed outright and 25 others injured, a number of whom will die. The killed and injured are as follows:

Killed: W. Powers, Lawrenceville, Pa.; a child of Mrs. Farrell of Butler; Mrs. Duff, an old lady, residence unknown.

The wounded, as far as known, were: Ex-Mayor Lyon of Pittsburgh, seriously injured; Capt. Lower of Pittsburgh, badly hurt; D. A. Jones and wife of Pittsburgh, seriously hurt and bruised; J. A. McLaughlin of Pittsburgh, fatally injured; Col. Kowley of Pittsburgh, slightly injured; Conductor Gray of Butler, seriously injured internally; Frank Karns of Butler, back broken; Mrs. Graft of Pittsburgh, injured seriously; Beale Fullwood, of Pittsburgh, hurt and bruised; Capt. Grace of Pittsburgh, hurt and bruised. About fifteen others were more or less injured, but whose names are unobtainable at this writing.

The accident was caused by the spreading of the rails on a small bridge. The rails were on stringers, which had rotted with time and long service. The engine passed over the bridge safely, but the first car was derailed and plunged down the 30 feet embankment. The engine passed through the second car and the escapes were miraculous. One lady had her dress cut from the wrists to the shoulder. Another lost a small piece of her cheek. A third had her chin cut, and many others in the second car narrowly escaped.

THE FISH COMMISSION.

Report of the Recent Cruise of the Albatross.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—[By the Associated Press.] Prof. Charles H. Gilbert, who has been for the past seven months chief naturalist on board the United States Fish Commission steamer Albatross has just returned to Washington and is now engaged at work on the collections made off the Pacific Coast. Prof. Gilbert says that after joining the ship at San Francisco early last winter, he commenced on the southern coast of California and continued three months between Point Conception and San Diego. The main work there was in locating fishing grounds and dredging for deep sea material. While there 35 different species of fish were taken, none before on the coast were taken, some of them new to science. New fish and new fishing banks were found, although some had been planted there several years previously. The waters evidently were not suited to the species. South of Guaymas beds of oysters were found which are thought fully equal to the best we have on the eastern coast, and the question now to be determined is whether the oyster can be placed on the California coast where they can be propagated. Part of the work was of scientific interest, many new and very interesting specimens being obtained.

Having finished the southern cruise the vessel proceeded northward, did some work off the coast of Oregon and Washington Territory, locating fishing banks there. It had been reported that there were cod and halibut banks off the northern coast, but the Albatross could not find them. The fish there in sufficient abundance to promise any large industry in that line.

SUMMER SHOWERS.

Several Storms in This Section—Damage Around Daggett.

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 16.—About 10 o'clock this morning a light rain began to fall. At 2:15 the shower had stopped. The rain gauge measured .04. The only rainfall during August, 1889, was on the 11th and the register stood .01.

COLTON, Aug. 16.—A light rain fell here this afternoon. The weather is cloudy and it is extremely hot. The heaviest thunderstorm ever known in this vicinity commenced at 5 p.m., continuing two hours, the rain flooding houses and cellars and the wind blowing down houses that were standing away from others. The wires are down east of here and no doubt the track is badly washed east and west.

THE CHARLESTON.

She Will Be Given Another Trial in a Few Days.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—[By the Associated Press.] The cruiser Charleston has gone on the Hunter's Point dry dock, where she will receive new propeller blades and have her hull cleaned. It is expected to have her ready for her second informal trial next week. She will run over the course along the coast, and then to the islands, and at last out to Lime Point, returning by way of the regular steamship course on this side of the bay. In the event of this experiment proving satisfactory, the Naval Board will be notified, and under its direction the cruiser will be taken down to Santa Barbara Channel for another trial trip.

LETTERS TO THE TIMES.

How a Taxpayer Views It.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] The absorbing topic of the hour is the sewer. It is discussed on the street corners, in the stores, shops and hotels. The advocates of the route to the sea say if the river route is taken and the water run upon the land, it will stink the city and whole country out of existence; but just here steps up one who lives there, and on whose farm the sewage runs, and says his farm is worth more by 100 per cent. than it was before using sewer water, and so little offense is there that strangers never discover it, and often water their horses in the sewer ditches, and the trouble is they cannot get enough of that kind of water. But if running the water to the river will stink up that section of country and city when the wind is in south, why will not the smell be the same if the sea route is taken, and 50 inches of this same water be spread over the land on the way, with the prevailing westerly wind?

The fact is, the stink problem cuts but a small figure in this question. The motive to run the sewer to the sea is deeper, broader and more offensive than any smells that may arise therefrom. The misfortune is, that our city government is composed of mushroom shamesmen, whose peculiar policy seems to be to demolish the police organization, plan to lay out drives, boulevards and parks, where it will do most good to replete their impoverished pockets on the receding swell of a busted bond.

If the Council, in a sanitary and financial point of view, wish to promote the health and monetary interest of the class of people in whose interest they profess to legislate, why do they not put the city's money as the law provides, where it will return some revenue to benefit the poorer classes of taxpayers? Why do they persist in a desire to bond the city to that extent, that taxes are levied on the property to be a burden to thousands who have come here and invested their all in little homes yet unpaid for, and that for some time to come will deter capitalists from about investing in manufacturing buildings, mammoth hotels or any other enterprises? Do they persist in that route to the sea because the cost is greater, and that greater sums of money will be handled, great contracts awarded, and hence a great chance for untold sums of "swag" and "boodle" to find its way into the pockets of some of those whose boom in corner lots has gone where the wind blows?

Can they make enough out of the boulevard, park and other little schemes to let up on this, or would they rather wreck the city? It's true a sewer must be built; but why the long, expensive, hurried effort to get it cheaper from a practical standpoint is just as good? Suppose it should happen that the sea route pollutes the beach at Santa Monica; it would be an untold misfortune to the city. The idea of the route is that "big job" will be given to the laborers of this city, and hence the pledge of the Republican party will be redeemed. All things being equal, would not the laborer of the city be satisfied with a shorter job if by that route taxes were less burdensome? Business might reverse, people and capital come in and investments be made that would make property a more sure thing. A city with a high business, in which there is never an inviting to business or capital. The powers that be must put out of the question in this sewer business as well as politics. Thousands of people in this city are struggling to get their can't pay for their homes nor the taxes now levied against them without suffering in their families.

TAXPAYER.

Defense of the High School Site.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 16.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] In Sunday morning's TIMES you published an article, headed "Against School Bonds," signed by over 100 persons, and by reference to the directory you will see that about three-fourths of them reside within easy walking distance of the corner of Eighth and Grand avenue.

First.—That the children going to the High School will have to climb steep grades for nearly one-half mile, which is not true.

Second.—That the children going to the High School will be compelled to pay four fares each day to attend the High School, which is untrue, and to walk 1000 feet up a steep grade, which is also untrue.

Third.—Nineteen-twentieths of the children will be compelled to pay four fares each day to attend the High School, which is untrue, and to walk 1000 feet up a steep grade, which is also untrue.

Fourth.—That Boye Heights, East Los Angeles and all the city south of First street is ignored by the location, which is not true.

Now, if you will look at the fifth clause you will see the real motive that prompted the writer and the majority of the signers, the last paragraph of which should read: We therefore ask the people to vote down the school bonds, because this is the only way that we, the people, will ever get a high school building located in our immediate vicinity, where we can send our children without paying any fare at all.

When we consider that for three years or more the children of this city have had such poor facilities for a common-school education, the suggestion to vote against school bonds becomes a suggestion to vote for the improvement of the city, and one for each way is all that will be necessary, while if they were located at Eighth and Grand avenue, the patrons of the Central avenue, Main street, Second street, Temple street, Bellevue avenue and electric car lines would all have to pay double fare, besides having to pay an extra fare if they stop off to make purchases in the business portion of the city, as children attending High School are often wanted to do.

VERACITY.

Watermelons for Syrup.

Col. William Duncan of South Carolina has proposed that the watermelon crop, which is getting to be an unprofitable one at the South from overproduction, be devoted to the manufacture of syrup. He has experimented in the manufacture of syrup from melons, and finds it excellent, more like preserves than the cane syrup, he says, and likely to become popular with every one who tries it. He has made the syrup and sold it, and found no difficulty in getting a good price for it. The melon can be more easily raised than sugar cane, and more conveniently than the sugar beet, as it grows above ground.

It is believed he will make a confession and reveal his confederates.

Modern Treatment That Cures Constipation.

According to the San Francisco dailies a remedy has been discovered that with almost unerring certainty cures constipation. It is the new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. The papers are full of recent cures confirming its efficacy, and we give place to their testimonials. A card from San Francisco's well known lady seer, Mrs. S. says: "I am willing to relate the following experience. I have for years had a weak stomach attended with constipation, and never found but one preparation that helped me and that soon brought out and lost its effect, and I was again a sufferer till I tried Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It helped me in every way and has thoroughly reorganized me. I had one of the most sensitive of stomachs and was in continual distress, but with the aid of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla I am now eating and everything with my old accustomed freedom without any evil effects. I am both surprised and delighted, and gladly recommend it."

THE CITY IN BRIEF.

The Little Diamonds yesterday defeated a picked nine. Score: 29 to 21. There is an undelivered telegram from the Western Union Telegraph office for Rev. E. Thompson, D. D.

Ed Johnson was brought up from Wilmington last night and lodged in the County Jail on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Yesterday Officer Loomis recovered a lot of carpenter tools that were stolen a few days ago. The tools are at the police station.

Maj. George Alfred Dobinson received by express yesterday a fine jewelry from Catalina Island. The fish was caught by his little daughter.

George Hall, a negro who has had a good deal to do with the police late, was locked up in the County Jail last night on a charge of disturbing the peace.

Santa Monica will have a sensational drawing card in the swimming contest that is to take place on Sunday afternoon. The men are both fine swimmers.

Earl McGee and John Semus were arrested in Sonoma last night by Detectives Loomis and Bowler on suspicion. The prisoners were locked up for the night.

Mayor Hazard's burglar, who was shot a few weeks ago while prowling around the Mayor's house, is recovering rapidly, and will be on the streets in a few days.

Officer Roberts arrested Ah Jim last night for carrying concealed weapons. Jim is a big highlander and wanted to give $500 cash bail last night, but it was not accepted.

Mary Sullivan alias Kate Bonton, a well-known character in police circles, was given 60 days in the County Jail by Police Judge Stanton yesterday for disturbing the peace.

Seven hard-looking Chinamen were marched into the police station yesterday afternoon and booked for violating the peddlers' license law. They will have a hearing today.

The Law Students' Association will meet next Tuesday in Judge Van Dyke's courtroom, and Thomas M. Mitchell, Esq., will lecture on "Reindeers and Receivers."

Several of the big gamblers, who have been away since the games were shut down, have returned, and are giving out that they will reopen in a few days. The police are watching them.

The trial of a man named Phelan in Judge Cheney's court yesterday, on a charge of cutting James Williams, resulted in his acquittal. Both men were intoxicated at the time, and it was not clearly proved that Williams had been cut.

Official orders have at last been received from Washington to stop work on the Federal building at the top of the first story, and nothing more will be done except to finish the doorways and buttresses until after the next session of Congress.

The following persons were winners of the prizes offered by the Golden Eagle Clothing Company for solutions of the riddle: Willie Yates, San Bernardino; Rudolf Haas, Santa Monica; Frank Schnell and Willie Mosher, of Bunker Hill avenue.

Bernard A. Auer, an employment agent of San Diego, writes to THE TIMES that there is a great scarcity of male and female help, especially the latter, at San Diego. He says that chambermaids, waitresses, cooks and girls for housework could find good places at high wages.

A meeting in Chinatown last night, the Chinese factions, who are in opposition to Ah Mow and Ah Him, denounced him, and they claim that he is at the bottom of all the rumors about fights that have been circulated during the past few days. As soon as Ah Him is arrested the trouble will probably end.

The Grand Jury came together yesterday morning, but as several members were absent, it was decided to take a recess until Monday morning at 10 o'clock. Several matters of importance are coming up, among which will be the Montano matter, and it is expected that several important arrests will follow.

Yesterday morning argument was made before Judge Owens in the Cole criminal libel suit. Mr. Dameron made an eloquent appeal for the defendant, and Mr. Phipps presented the case for the prosecution in a clear manner. At the conclusion of the argument the Court held Mr. Cole to answer to the charge, fixing the bail at $500.

Yesterday morning the train that left San Diego at 8 o'clock was just pulling out of the depot, when the engineer discovered a man in front of his engine. He slowed down at once, but not until the man had been thrown several feet from the track by the cowcatcher. The fellow, who was under the influence of liquor, was considerably bruised, but he will recover.

Tomorrow the Santa Fé will run an excursion to San Juan by the Sea, and among the things the excursionists will have a chance to witness are bullfights, horse-racing, picking up coins and buried roosters from the ground by vaqueros, and a competitive shoot between the Turnverein Shooting Club and the Los Angeles Rifle Club. Ten prizes will be given away to those making the 10 highest scores.

PEOPLE'S STORE.

A NUMBER OF QUESTIONS OF INTEREST TO ALL.

How a Restless, Tireless, Ceaseless Establishment Caters to Public Demand—A Great Day at the People's Store.

PEOPLE'S STORE.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17, 1889.

Is it the proper thing for the People's Store to progress? Is it or is it not the proper thing for one establishment to carry an assortment of wares suited to the wants of every one? Is it an advantage to be able to buy everything needed to wear at one place? Is it or is it not a convenience to have this varied assortment under one roof and under one management?

We have heard considerable talk about the People's Store ruining the book trade, the People's Store competing in the shoe trade, the People's Store placing proper prices on the clothing trade, and so on through our 26 different and distinct lines.

We see no difference to the general public or to merchants. If perchance each of our departments were owned separately, we see in no way why all the different departments coming under one rule and regulation should in any way be antagonistic to any merchant or their interests in general.

That we want every one to do well, and to be prosperous, to be progressive in our earnest, ardent desire. Far be it from our views to encroach upon the trade of any, yet if our prices are lower, if we are in a position to sell cheaper, if we try harder and industriously to gain trade we cannot help it or be blamed.

We see no reason why we must remain inactive on account of the dormant nature of others. We are restless, tireless workers, and try to make our work tell, consequently cannot be kept down, but must from the nature of things progress.

OFFICE:
In the Hollenbeck Hotel, Cor. Spring and Second Sts., Los Angeles, Cal.

All diseases of the respiratory organs treated by the most improved medical inhalations and the Compound Oxygen treatment, which has such a world-wide reputation in lung and nervous affections.

BRONCHITIS.

Acute Bronchitis.

This is an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the bronchial tubes, and is one of the most common of all the pulmonary diseases. It is a dangerous disease, as it prevents the oxygenation of the blood, and in many cases, particularly after it passes into the chronic stage, the substance of the lungs becomes seriously involved, giving rise to what is very properly called bronchial consumption. In the acute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheezing, severe cough and expectoration. This is at first a watery, sticky mucus, which after a time becomes purulent. The patient in some cases is obliged to sit up in bed, the oppression across the chest is so great, and the skin is clammy and prostration rapidly sets in, and in fatal cases there will be muttering delirium, coma and death.

Chronic Bronchitis.

Chronic Bronchitis is also an inflammation of the mucous membrane of the bronchial tubes. But this form more often occurs later in life. When a cold settles on the lungs, the disease either ends in bronchitis or pneumonia. If it ends in bronchitis it usually passes off as a cold in the chest, and the patient does not feel entirely well. He feels tired and languid, and is incapable of taking his usual amount of exercise, and experiences a shortness of breath, with more or less warmth in the palms of his hands. Soon after this a cough appears, accompanied by an expectoration of thick mucus, followed by a hectic flush, loss of flesh and strength, and night sweats come on. The patient assumes all the appearance of having a genuine case of consumption. But this is simply catarrh of the lungs, or chronic bronchitis.

In the later stages of the disease the mucous membrane of the larger bronchial tubes softens, while in the smaller tubes and air cells of the lungs the mucous membrane becomes congested and inflamed. There are no cavities or tubercles in the lungs, but merely wasting away of the larger bronchial tubes, and death takes place from obstruction of the bronchial tubes and air cells of the lungs. The patient dies from exhaustion and suffocation, being unable to expectorate the mucus which accumulates in the passages leading to the lungs, which in some cases is sticky and small in quantity, but more commonly copious, of a light straw or yellowish green. Sometimes streaks of blood mark their appearance in the mucus, and at times there is a disagreeable smell. Persons thus afflicted are very liable to take cold, at which time the mucous membrane becomes more inflamed, and it is not uncommonly the case that the patient dies in one of these attacks. Inhalation in the "dry" system, which will cure these diseases, and yet the treatment of the two forms are entirely different. In the one we must allay the irritation, while in the other we must stimulate a healthy action.

This will convince us of the necessity of fully understanding the system of Medicated Inhalations in the treatment of all the various diseases of the pulmonary organs, for when properly applied there is no system of medicine to be compared.

Persons desiring treatment by this system of practice can use the inhalant at home as well as at our office, and which will cause no inconvenience or hindrance from business whatever.

I have seen so many of these cases cured that I do not consider any case hopeless, unless both lungs are seriously involved. Even then the inhalations aid us in dissolving the mucus and in continuing the healing process, which nothing can do with the same success.

My very best references from those already cured.
